

April is Month of the Military Child and National Child Abuse Prevention Month. Even the most confident parents can benefit from new ideas and information on improving their parenting skills. Every stage of a child's development brings about new milestones and challenges. Whether you're looking for tips to manage your toddlers temper tantrums or surviving the teenage years, an MCCS OneSource consultant can offer you some support, information, and resources to equip you with the tools that can help.

If you live on or close to a Marine Corps installation, an MCCS OneSource consultant can link you up with your local New Parent Support Program. It's another great source of support for expecting parents or those with young children and they offer great workshops including "Baby Boot Camp".
